NACCED Elects 2009 – 2010 Board of Directors

Cheryl Markham of King County, WA Elected to Board of Directors

WASHINGTON, D.C. (October 14, 2009) - The Washington-based National Association for County Community and Economic Development (NACCED) has elected Cheryl Markham of King County, WA as a member of the Board of Directors. Markham was elected by NACCED members at the Association's 34th Annual Conference and Training in Chicago, IL on October 6, 2009.

An active member for several years, Markham's election for a two-year term reflects her ongoing service and dedication to NACCED and its members as well as the fields of community development and affordable housing. She is Program Manager for Housing and Community Development for King County.

NACCED is a nonprofit national organization composed of county government agencies that administer federally-funded community development, economic development, and affordable housing programs. NACCED was created as an affiliate of the National Association of Counties (NACo) in 1978 to assist in developing the technical capacity of county agencies in administering these programs. NACCED also serves as a voice within NACo to articulate the needs, concerns, and interests of these agencies.
